

Assignment 1 – Deliverable 5 – MacLean/Kwan

By doing this assignment we have been introduced to the c++ programming language. Being a strongly typed language it was a good exercise in checking syntax and being very specific with our coding. It was also interesting to design a program that is as usable as possible from the command line.

If we were to do the assignment again we would definitely have put more effort into the design stage. We ended up making a lot of changes on the fly when we could have figured it out way ahead of time. A graphical user interface would have also been nice to add!
